INTRODUCTION

Seminar on April 26th to make the pharmacy professionals aware about the importance of “Drafting An Effective Research or Review Paper”

Research Paper: A Research Paper is a detailed and systematic investigation into a specific topic or question. It typically involves gathering, analyzing, and interpreting data or evidence to answer a research question or to contribute new knowledge to a particular field

Review Paper: A Review Paper evaluates existing research on a particular topic. Instead of presenting new data or findings, a review paper summarizes and critically analyzes the findings of multiple studies to provide a comprehensive overview of the current state of knowledge in a specific area.

OBJECTIVES OF THE SEMINAR

Objectives of the seminar are as follows

1. Learning process: To deepen their understanding of a specific topic or subject area through comprehensive research and critical analysis.
2. Academic development: To enhance their research, writing, and analytical skills, which are essential for academic success and future career opportunities.
3. Professional development: To gain experience in scholarly writing, including proper citation practices, literature review techniques, and formatting conventions commonly used in academic publishing.
4. Exploration of interests: To explore personal interests, passions, or curiosities within a particular field or discipline, potentially leading to further study or specialization
